Vancouver, British Columbia / April 9, 2024 - Harvest Gold Corporation (TSXV: HVG) ("Harvest Gold" or the "Company") is pleased to announce that it has appointed Louis Martin, P.Geo, as its Senior Technical Advisor for Quebec.

Harvest Gold President and CEO Rick Mark states: "We are very pleased to announce Louis Martin has formally joined our outstanding technical team. While first and foremost, Louis is an excellent geologist experienced in the Abitibi, he has fit in with the Harvest Gold team seamlessly. I want to thank him for agreeing to take on this leadership position as we develop and execute our exploration plans in Quebec."

Louis Martin (P.Geo.) has spent much of his professional life working in the Abitibi Region and has been a major contributor to the co-discovery of several gold and base metal deposits during his 40 plus year career. Mr. Martin has been fortunate to have been part of the exploration teams that were awarded the Discovery of the Year by the AEMQ for the West Ansil Deposit (2005) and the Louvicourt Deposit (1989). He has worked on several advanced exploration projects, that included bringing 4 of these projects into production.

Prior to his consulting career, Mr. Martin was Vice President of Exploration with Clifton Star Resources, where he led the team that completed a Pre-Feasibility study defining the 4.5 million-ounce Duparquet Gold Project.

Mr. Martin is a professional geologist and is a member in good standing of both the Ordre des Géologues du Québec and the Association of Professional Geoscientists of Ontario.
