2019 Veeva R&D Summit Europe to Showcase Advances for Speeding Product Development

6/11/2019

Veeva Systems (NYSE:VEEV):

What:

Veeva Systems (NYSE:VEEV) will host the 2019 Veeva R&D Summit, Europe for more than 600 life sciences professionals and industry experts from over 145 companies registered to attend, making it the largest Veeva R&D Summit in Europe to date. Keynotes and breakout sessions will showcase the latest advancements for unifying systems and processes in clinical, regulatory, and quality for faster product development.

Keynote Speakers:

- Dr. Jacques Mascaro, senior vice president and head of regulatory affairs and R&D quality at the Healthcare business of the Merck Group
- Professor Mike Stroud OBE, explorer and expert on human health under extreme conditions who is recognized for his record-breaking expeditions with Sir Ranulph Fiennes
- Chris Moore, president of Veeva Europe

Sessions and Themes:

The event will offer 34 sessions with more than 50 speakers, including leading global pharmaceutical companies and emerging biotechs such as Bayer, Horizon, and UCB. Featured sessions on optimizing trial performance, modernizing quality management, and transforming regulatory operations include:

- AstraZeneca sharing best practices for modernizing clinical operations and streamlining trial execution with a unified suite of applications.
- Novo Nordisk explaining how they modernized and simplified a fragmented system landscape for controlled content management – eliminating IT risks and gaining greater business value.
- GE Healthcare discussing lessons learned in regulatory transformation, from improving the planning process to streamlining cross-functional business processes and measuring success.
