"We are starting the year with a strong first quarter and have crossed the $2 billion revenue run rate mark," said CFO Brent Bowman. "Our multiple engines of long-term growth and innovation will continue to fuel strong expansion and customer success well into the future."

Recent Highlights:

- Continued Strength and Growing Opportunity in Veeva Development Cloud — Progress to establish Veeva Development Cloud as the operating system for the product life cycle continued in the quarter. Partnering on this vision, in Q1 a top 20 pharma selected twelve Development Cloud products across clinical, quality, and regulatory as their enterprise standard. Product excellence and customer success are fueling expansion across the customer base and as of Q1, now more than 350 customers have at least two Development Cloud applications. With a long tail of growth ahead, the company is just 15% penetrated in the current $7 billion total addressable market opportunity on the R&D side.
- Veeva Link Expands with New Applications for Real-time Intelligence — Veeva Link expands with four new data applications for commercial and medical teams. This expansion reflects the growing impact and potential of Veeva Link as the platform matures into a powerful foundation to build high-value data applications with speed and quality. Veeva Link also continued its strong growth with new customer wins as well as major enterprise expansions in the quarter.
- Innovating in Data with a Common Architecture for the Industry — With a long-term commitment to bringing better data to the industry, all on a common data architecture, the company announced Veeva Data Cloud, as the overall brand for its growing family of data applications. This includes Veeva OpenData for customer reference data, Veeva Link for real-time intelligence, and Veeva Compass patient, prescriber, and sales data for the U.S. market. With better data on common data architecture sales, medical, and marketing teams can work together in a more coordinated, customer-centric, and compliant way.
- Advancing the Industry to Commercial Excellence — Its first in-person summit of the year, the company brought together more than 1,400 attendees for Veeva Commercial Summit in Boston in early May. One of the largest commercial life sciences gatherings in the world, the event was an important forum for innovation and connection and key to advancing the industry toward commercial excellence. Veeva Summits are fundamental to Veeva's role as a strategic partner in bringing the industry together, fuel Veeva product excellence, and drive customer success.

(1) This press release uses non-GAAP financial metrics that are adjusted for the impact of various GAAP items. See the section titled "Non-GAAP Financial Measures" and the tables entitled "Reconciliation of GAAP to Non-GAAP Financial Measures" below for details.

(2) Veeva is not able, at this time, to provide GAAP targets for operating income and fully diluted net income per share for the second fiscal quarter ending July 31, 2022 or fiscal year ending January 31, 2023 because of the difficulty of estimating certain items excluded from non-GAAP operating income and non-GAAP fully diluted net income per share that cannot be reasonably predicted, such as charges related to stock-based compensation expense and amortization of purchased intangibles. The effect of these excluded items may be significant.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

In Veeva's public disclosures, Veeva has provided non-GAAP measures, which it defines as financial information that has not been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States, or GAAP.

In addition to its GAAP measures, Veeva uses these non-GAAP financial measures internally for budgeting and resource allocation purposes and in analyzing its financial results. For the reasons set forth below, Veeva believes that excluding the following items provides information that is helpful in understanding its operating results, evaluating its future prospects, comparing its financial results across accounting periods, and comparing its financial results to its peers, many of which provide similar non-GAAP financial measures.

- Excess tax benefit. Excess tax benefit from employee stock plans are dependent on previously agreed-upon equity grants to our employees, vesting of those grants, stock price, and exercise behavior of our employees, which can fluctuate from quarter to quarter. Because these fluctuations are not directly related to our business operations, Veeva excludes excess tax benefit for its internal management reporting processes. Veeva management also finds it useful to exclude excess tax benefit when assessing the level of cash provided by operating activities. Given the nature of the excess tax benefit, Veeva believes excluding it allows investors to make meaningful comparisons between our operating cash flows from quarter to quarter and those of other companies.
- Stock-based compensation expenses. Veeva excludes stock-based compensation expenses primarily because they are non-cash expenses that Veeva excludes from its internal management reporting processes. Veeva's management also finds it useful to exclude these expenses when they assess the appropriate level of various operating expenses and resource allocations when budgeting, planning and forecasting future periods. Moreover, because of varying available valuation methodologies, subjective assumptions and the variety of award types that companies can use, Veeva believes excluding stock-based compensation expenses allows investors to make meaningful comparisons between our recurring core business operating results and those of other companies.
- Amortization of purchased intangibles. Veeva incurs amortization expense for purchased intangible assets in connection with acquisitions of certain businesses and technologies. Amortization of intangible assets is a non-cash expense and is inconsistent in amount and frequency because it is significantly affected by the timing, size of acquisitions and the inherent subjective nature of purchase price allocations. Because these costs have already been incurred and cannot be recovered, and are non-cash expenses, Veeva excludes these expenses for its internal management reporting processes. Veeva's management also finds it useful to exclude these charges when assessing the appropriate level of various operating expenses and resource allocations when budgeting, planning and forecasting future periods. Investors should note that the use of intangible assets contributed to Veeva's revenues earned during the periods presented and will contribute to Veeva's future period revenues as well.
- Income tax effects on the difference between GAAP and non-GAAP costs and expenses. The income tax effects that are excluded relate to the imputed tax impact on the difference between GAAP and non-GAAP costs and expenses due to stock-based compensation and purchased intangibles for GAAP and non-GAAP measures.

There are limitations to using non-GAAP financial measures because non-GAAP financial measures are not prepared in accordance with GAAP and may be different from non-GAAP financial measures provided by other companies. The non-GAAP financial measures are limited in value because they exclude certain items that may have a material impact upon our reported financial results. In addition, they are subject to inherent limitations as they reflect the exercise of judgments by Veeva's management about which items are adjusted to calculate its non-GAAP financial measures. Veeva compensates for these limitations by analyzing current and future results on a GAAP basis as well as a non-GAAP basis and also by providing GAAP measures in its public disclosures.

Non-GAAP financial measures should not be considered in isolation from, or as a substitute for, financial information prepared in accordance with GAAP. Veeva encourages its investors and others to review its financial information in its entirety, not to rely on any single financial measure to evaluate its business, and to view its non-GAAP financial measures in conjunction with the most directly comparable GAAP financial measures. A reconciliation of GAAP to the non-GAAP financial measures has been provided in the tables below.
