Bob, a distinguished consultant, spent the majority of his career at Accenture (formerly Andersen Consulting), one of the world's top consulting firms. Specializing in financial services and insurance, he was responsible for business growth across the U.S. and multiple European countries. Prior to joining Accenture, Bob held multiple positions at Florists' Insurance Group, the largest specialty insurer of the floral industry.

Bob earned an A.B. from Dartmouth College in Economics, Government and Theater and an M.M. from J.L. Kellogg School of Management, Northwestern University in Finance, Marketing and Policy.

Bob has been extremely active in community service. He recently completed his tenure as Chair of the Board of Trustees for the Upper Valley Land Trust, and continues to serve as a Trustee. He also Chaired the Board of Overseers for the Hopkins Center and Hood Museum. Prior to moving permanently to the Upper Valley, he served on several community service boards in Portland, Maine.

Bob lives in Quechee, Vermont.
