"PagerDuty is the global leader in digital operations management, enabling customers to achieve operational efficiency at scale with the PagerDuty Operations Cloud," said Jeremy Kmet, senior vice president, global field operations at PagerDuty. "EMEA is a big growth opportunity for PagerDuty and Eduardo is an exceptional leader who will drive our vision and have an impact across the region for our customers, partners and employees."

Crespo brings to the role over 20 years of diverse experience spanning investment banking to strategy consulting to disruptive cloud and software solutions. He was most recently part of the leadership teams that scaled Medallia EMEA's ARR by approximately 25 times from 2014 to 2024, delivering ~25% of global revenue. Crespo has a successful track record building regional teams, standing-up functions and executing integrated go-to-market strategies.

“What attracted me to PagerDuty is its world-class platform, a fiercely loyal customer base and amazing employees who champion the customer as their leading value,” said Crespo. “PagerDuty is positioned for international growth in the EMEA market because of our ability to solve digital operations challenges and deliver demonstrable value. I look forward to creating lasting customer partnerships, growing the world-class team and expanding our partner ecosystems across EMEA.”

Crespo received his MBA from London Business School and graduated from Bates College and University of Oxford with degrees in economics and political science.
