NEWS RELEASE

Habitat for Humanity East Bay/Silicon Valley and NETSCOUT Team Up for the Sixth Year to Assist Children of Military Families

2016-04-20

WESTFORD, Mass.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Apr. 20, 2016-- NETSCOUT SYSTEMS, INC. (NASDAQ: NTCT), a market leader in service assurance and cybersecurity solutions, announced today it is once again teaming up with Habitat for Humanity East Bay/Silicon Valley to assist children of families with members actively serving in the military. This will be NETSCOUT's sixth playhouse project with the program.

Today, NETSCOUT's Silicon Valley team, which includes employees who joined as a result of the July 2015 acquisition of Danaher Corporation's Communications Business, will put down its mobile devices and pick up hammers and nails to construct one playhouse to be donated to a local chapter of Blue Star Moms, a non-profit organization dedicated to providing support for the United States Armed Forces, its veterans and their families.

"We've had a longstanding relationship with Habitat for Humanity East Bay/Silicon Valley and fully support their mission of bringing people together to build homes, communities and hope," said Ken Boyd, chief information officer and senior vice president of support and services, at NETSCOUT. "With this program activity, we are squarely focused on improving the lives of local families that deserve our support and recognition. Our military personnel do their part serving and protecting our country, so it is very inspiring to be able to work together and do something in return."

When: Wednesday, April 20, 2016 from 1:00 p.m. – 5:00 p.m. PDT

Where: NETSCOUT Systems, Inc., 178 E. Tasman Drive, San Jose, CA 95134

The Habitat for Humanity East Bay/Silicon Valley Playhouse Program has donated playhouses to organizations including InnVision, Community Solutions, and Silicon Valley Center for Independent Living, Camp Harmon, Aspiranet, and Child Advocates.
