About the artists:

The Spill Canvas has garnered critical acclaim with their most recent release. The hype machine has been in full effect after Jason Tate of Absolutepunk.net proclaimed One Fell Swoop as "the best record of the year, period."

Nightmare Of You closed 2005 with a bang. While on the road with The (International) Noise Conspiracy, their single, "I Want To Be Buried In Your Backyard," tore up the airwaves while its video achieved significant airplay on Fuse.

Hit The Lights are here to put Lima, Ohio on the map. Think pop-punk a la New Found Glory and The Starting Line. On their most recent run with Plain White T's and The Rocket Summer, they wowed legions of ladies on a nightly basis.

As Tall As Lions (ATAL) are looking forward to an incredibly exciting year ahead. Having toured the country with the likes of The Receiving End Of Sirens and Copeland, ATAL are primed to pack clubs and sing amongst their ever-growing fan base.
